

LET'S CELEBRATE!

What miracles do you believe you are entitled to? What would you settle for? What would you be happy to receive at the end of the day? Who would be thinking about these three questions right now... the one who believes they are entitled to miracles or the One who is entitled to miracles? The difference only seems subtle - just as it still seems to us that there is one or the other... you and me, the one who has, the one who doesn't... the right of the one and the right of the other.

I AM ENTITLED TO MIRACLES.

When you declare your right to miracles, you don't ask, question or pray for anything. You declare a Fact. And this acceptance belongs to the Son, to the Saviour, and not to those who believe in lack, loss, separation and all the illusions of this world, which do not stem from God's Laws.

We celebrate our right to be Who we are. We will receive and offer only the Salvation present in every perception of what you believe you still need. Want what belongs to you. And don't forget your true Identity.
